We take pleasure in commending the good character of Blind Bob as always sustained, and has at all times shown a willing disposition to work hard for a livelihood. In 1875 Bob was one of the unfortunate, losing five hundred and one dollar in money he had saved for a number of years by the failure of a real estate investment of this city, in which he had put all his savings. He has now come to the front with a little enterprise of selling lead pencils, and also agent for the famous and elegant pens made by Father Ryan. He strives hard daily in this work, and by your patronage you will get not only a good pencil, but a good man, just that much a man that is almost totally blind. Give him a lift. It will certainly be greatly appreciated by him.

I have got the largest stock of goods that I have ever brought. My fine goods, including all the new things in dress goods and trimmings, were never so varied and attractive. I carry by far the largest stock of goods in my line to be found south, and my motto is "Never be undersold in anything." In many lines of goods I am confident I can give you money over any house south.

Buying everything for my wholesale department from first hands, and giving you a big buyer, and can offer goods at less than any house south. I respectfully invite merchants visiting Atlanta to give me a call.

I carry many of the new and novel goods not to be found in any exclusive jobbing house, and can always save you some money.

In a New Note.

We see that Mr. J. R. Christian, lately of the American Republic, has accepted a position with Messrs. Simmons & Hayden, of Louisville, Missouri, proprietor of the Dr. M. A. Simmons's Liver medicine, to travel in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina, and sell and advertise their medicine. We congratulate them upon securing advertising, is full of energy and enterprise, and has the reputation of being the most successful of the Georgia press. He informs us that he is going to patronize his old friends of the press liberally in advertising the old and new Simmons's Liver medicine, and to those who do not know him, as well as to the business men with whom he may be brought in contact, we commend him as worthy of their confidence and esteem.

Messrs. Simmons & Hayden, the senior of whom is old Dr. M. A. Simmons's son, last September bought out the doctor, paying $3,000 for the sole right, and he is now intent to push it and advertise it all over the country extensively into every nook and cranny, and we think it is the right man to do it successfully. This is the oldest Simmons's liver medicine, and the first ever sold, and the best of its kind, and they will build up for it a heavy trade.

Those New Embroideries at Austell & Mangum's are the newest styles in the market.

The following were delivered yesterday from Mr. John Ryan, who is now in New York.

Stetson A. Ryan purchased very largely of Hattell, Haines & Co., damaged by clear water at the late dreadful fire on Broadway. The goods are saturated with water, I have employed two men to examine and ship as soon as possible. You need not trouble about funds, as Eugene Kelly has authorized me to draw on him for any amount required. No one beyond Baltimore attended this sale that I know of.

I have just returned from the eastern states, and my pocket is overflowing with the latest styles in dress goods and trimmings, and I am determined to place before you by far the largest and most complete stock that has ever been brought to this city.

My dress goods department embraces all the new styles, both foreign and domestic. My trimmings department is simply superb, and these departments are not alone in their sparkling beauty, I can assure you that every department of my business is equally well supplied with novel, desirable and rare goods of fashion.

How can any one expect to do business in this place, where the public such goods as they need and under such prices and treatment as to convince them that it will be both profitable and pleasant to patronize him?

This time I feel confident that I have got the stock and the prices, and I am determined to make a grand effort to please you. I don't claim to have all the goods in America, but I have enough to go around and more coming. Will you please to call early and examine my stock and prices. I assure you that I will be able to make you happy and will help me to smile, too.

I propose giving a grand concert every week, and a grand ball every week, during the entire spring and summer months, for the benefit of those who wish to have a first-class reliable goods cheap. Come yourself or send your orders. Your child can buy as cheap as yours.

The Springfield Dr.

An interesting interview with Mr. David H. Dougherty.

Yesterday at the Atlanta train, in a reporter of the Springfield Dr. Dougherty happened to be stopping through the passenger car. Among the passengers he happened to see the familiar and good-natured face of Mr. David H. Dougherty, who had just returned from an absence of over two weeks.

The great Dougherty is a very close observer, and he had fine opportunities for gaining information, we approached and asked some questions about the general prospects of the Springfield Dr.

Reporter.—Are there many novelties in Springfield?

Mr. D.—More than I have ever noticed before. The Springfield Dr. is remarkably beautiful and I really enjoyed going through it. I have never seen anything like it before. I have never seen anything like it before.

Reporter.—Does Atlanta take the first place in the South for its novel goods?

Mr. D.—Yes sir. The trade of Atlanta has improved very much, and the merchant who does his business in New York, which are as fine as they make. If you will drop in as you pass this afternoon, I will take pleasure in showing you some specimens of the kind of goods some take now.

The reporter admires dress goods most, but even in the colors and late yesterday afternoon he enjoyed looking over a lot of first-class reliable goods which quite charmed him.

The graduates shown him were so rich and lovely, the pleasure he already noted $300 to the building fund.

A Smart Little Boy.

Yesterday afternoon Wade Johnson, a small negro boy apparently about ten years of age, entered the Springfield Dr. and stole a box of sardines from a case near the door.

When overheard he denied in the strongest terms the charge, but upon searching the shelves he found the box of sardines, and the boy was questioned with reference to stealing other goods from the store, and denied everything.

When the boy was taken to the store of P. and G. T. Dodd & Co. He told the officers at the station-house shortly after the boy was taken to the store of P. and G. T. Dodd & Co. He told the officers at the station-house shortly after the boy was taken to the store of P. and G. T. Dodd & Co.

A Search was made and the package recovered. The negro stated that he had stolen the sardines from the store of P. and G. T. Dodd & Co. He told the officers at the station-house shortly after the boy was taken to the store of P. and G. T. Dodd & Co.
